

Xtrackers MSCI EAFE High Dividend Yield Hedged Equity ETF (HDEF)

4th quarter 2017

Strategy

On or about 2/13/18 this fund will change its name to Xtrackers MSCI EAFE High Dividend Yield Equity ETF. The investment objective and strategy will also change at that time. In today's low-yielding environment, investors searching for additional sources of income may consider a high-dividend yield approach. High-dividend yielding strategies seek exposure to companies with higher-than-average dividend yields relative to their market-cap-weighted counterparts with the goal of capital preservation and potential long-term capital appreciation. Xtrackers EAFE High Dividend Yield Hedged Equity ETF seeks exposure to high-quality international equities across developed market countries (ex. the U.S. and Canada), and provide an alternative, potentially reliable income stream on a currency-hedged basis.

Performance quoted represents past performance and does not guarantee future results. Investment returns and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. To obtain the most recent month-end performance data visit www.Xtrackers.com or call 855-329-3837.

Indexes are unmanaged; you cannot invest in an index. Index performance is gross of fees and assumes dividend reinvestment. Inclusion of fees would have reduced returns.

¹ NAV, or net asset value, usually determined at 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time on each day that the New York Stock Exchange is open for trading, and is calculated by dividing the ETF's total assets less total liabilities by the number of fund shares outstanding.

² The 30-Day SEC Yield is based on a 30-day period and is computed by dividing the net investment income per share earned during the period by the maximum offering price per share on the last day of the period.

Risks:

Investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. Stocks may decline in value. Foreign investing involves greater and different risks than investing in U.S. companies, including currency fluctuations, less liquidity, less developed or less efficient trading markets, lack of comprehensive company information, political instability and differing auditing and legal standards. Emerging markets tend to be more volatile and less liquid than the markets of more mature economies, and generally have less diverse and less mature economic structures and less stable political systems than those of developed countries. Funds investing in a single industry, country or in a limited geographic region generally are more volatile than more diversified funds. The fund's use of forward currency contracts may not be successful in hedging currency exchange rates changes and could eliminate some or all of the benefit of an increase in the value of a foreign currency versus the U.S. dollar. Dividends are not guaranteed. If the dividend-paying stocks held by the fund reduce or stop paying dividends, the fund's ability to generate income may be adversely affected. This fund is non-diversified and can take larger positions in fewer issues, increasing its potential risk. Performance of a fund may diverge from that of an Underlying Index due to operating expenses, transaction costs, cash flows, use of sampling strategies or operational inefficiencies. An investment in any fund should be considered only as a supplement to a complete investment program for those investors willing to accept the risks associated with that fund. Please read the prospectus for more information. See the prospectus for details.
